

Dear all,

Because many of you have not had a chance to see our herd, here are a couple of photos of our operation. As time allows, we will send more photos and info. We thought you would like to see how we control the fly population at Tall Grass Bison. We don't use the pesticides and insecticides that can have adverse effects on our buffalo, its meat and the environment. Instead we provide them with Diatomaceous Earth. DE is a fine powder that gets into the breathing apparatus of flies and suffocates them. Also, because buffalo have wool, birds are able to perch on their faces and pick off the flies. Another example of how buffalo are good for the landscape and how nature provides for them.
